

Bookseller & Library Information

Early trade information for organizations interested in the developing Miller Hoey Publishing catalog.

Publisher

Miller Hoey Publishing is an imprint of Miller Hoey Ventures LLC in Houston, Texas. The imprint is building professional editorial, production, metadata, distribution, rights, and launch-support workflows for a broad future catalog.

First Developing Title

How Emily Met Gooper, written by Suzanne Hoey, is an illustrated children's story centered on friendship, imagination, courage, and belonging. It begins a larger creative world inspired by real people and a real classroom experience.

Catalog status: In development. Ordering data, publication timing, formats, ISBNs, pricing, and retailer or distributor links will be supplied only after they are finalized.

For Booksellers, Libraries & Educators

We welcome early professional inquiries about future catalog information, collection consideration, author events, school or library programming, review copies when available, accessibility needs, and community partnerships.

Miller Hoey Publishing does not currently accept purchase orders, reservations, or advance orders for this developing title.

Request Future Trade Information

Email millerhoeyventuresllc@gmail.com with your organization name, role, location, and the type of information you would like to receive. This is an inquiry channel, not an order form or mailing-list subscription.