

Press & Media Information

A concise introduction to Miller Hoey Publishing and its first developing title.

ABOUT THE IMPRINT

Miller Hoey Publishing is a developing publishing imprint of Miller Hoey Ventures LLC, headquartered in Houston, Texas. The imprint is building an author-minded publishing house for fiction, nonfiction, children's literature, academic and professional works, visual books, and emerging formats.

FEATURED DEVELOPING TITLE

How Emily Met Gooper
Written by Suzanne Hoey

An illustrated children's story about friendship, belonging, imagination, and the little crocheted ghost who becomes Gooper.

Current status: The manuscript and illustrations remain in development. This sheet does not announce a publication date, edition, price, ISBN, or retail availability.

About Suzanne Hoey

Suzanne Hoey is a mother, author, United States Air Force veteran, engineer, aviator, researcher, actor, producer, director, and entrepreneur. Her multidisciplinary education spans aeronautics, information systems technology, liberal arts, aviation science, anthropology, business, political science, economics, and space operations.

How Emily Met Gooper grew from a real classroom experience and Suzanne's desire to turn meaningful moments into imaginative stories that encourage friendship, curiosity, courage, and belonging.

Media & Partnership Inquiries

Journalists, reviewers, educators, bookstores, libraries, producers, event organizers, and mission-aligned partners may contact Miller Hoey Publishing by email. Please identify your organization, deadline, intended use, and requested materials.